

Tina M. Games

Creative Consulting and Strategic Planning for Artists, Writers, Creative Entrepreneurs, Creative Nonprofits

Tina works with highly creative women who are looking to make their mark in the world through artistic and literary endeavors that impact social change. She also serves as a creative consultant, working with small businesses and nonprofit organizations on projects and programs that pertain to the arts, culture, education, families, and women's empowerment.

Tina is the author of two books, Journaling by the Moonlight: Unearthing Your Creative Calling in Midlife (2024) and Journaling by the Moonlight: A Mother's Path to Self-Discovery (2010). As a certified creativity coach and journal writing facilitator, a certified nonfiction book coach and creative business coach, she has led numerous workshops and taught several courses on the topics of creative exploration, expressive writing, meaningful work, visioning, strategic planning, and creative development.

Tina lives on Cape Cod in Massachusetts where she serves in a leadership capacity on boards and committees that serve the community, as well as town and regional government. She is also a member of the Board of Directors for Story Circle Network, a national nonprofit organization that supports female writers in all genres.

Working with Tina as a Creative Partner

Whether it's creative development, strategic planning, or exploring funding sources, Tina creates a professional and safe container that allows for thoughtful dialogue and possibilities that support bigger visions, while also addressing any concerns that might impede progress.

- Perhaps it's that life-changing book you've been working on for eons, but keep finding yourself facing one creative block after another.
- Maybe it's that passion-filled business that you've been wanting to start, but you haven't mustered the courage to just go for it.
- Or it could be the nonprofit organization you've been pondering, the one that's destined to change the world.
- Perhaps you're finally ready to lead that movement of social change that you've been playing out in your mind over and over again.
- It might even be that art gallery you've been talking about, the one where you'll proudly display your artistic masterpieces for the public to see.
- Or maybe it's time to bring the film you've been visualizing in your mind to life on the big screen.

Whatever project or vision you've been contemplating, bring it to our creative space and let's work together on moving it from concept to completion.
